What, then, is to be said of a party which treacherously departs from this and holds caucuses whose object is to force a set of views hostile to this? This has been done.

Can it in any sense be considered as seeking the preservation of the Union? Yet these men, with brazen and unparalleled effrontery, are some of them hypocritically deprecating the formation of the National Democratic party in the North, and the caucus of the conservatives in Congress, at the suggestion of Mr. Mallory. A meeting of the conservative members of Congress from all the States, to defeat the schemes of the abelitionists and secessionists, was held this evening in the Hall of Representatives, Mr. Crittenden in the chair and Mr Cox Secretary.

Mr. Richardson, to test the sense of the meeting, moved that the chairman have power to call them together whenever it shall again become necessary, in order that they might make arrangements for defeat-ing objectionable measures. There was no legislation pending of which they knew enough to determine what course to take; they were in the midst of shifting scenes. He therefore suggested that the report prepared be not submitted, for when a report was adopted, there was no recalling it. Among the killed on our side was Lieutenant Colonel Miles, of the 47th Illineis. There is no sort of doubt we could have held our ground, but Pope was forbidden to reinforce, as that would have brought on a general engage-ment on our left, and so had to withdraw his brigade. The enemy made no pursuit, and so occupied the ground again next morning. Our left occupies its old position, four miles to the east of Corinth. The center and right are now not over four or four and a half miles from the enemy's works. Pope's advance is hardly three miles. It is utterly useless to attempt predicting when an attack may be made. Ex ra supplies are accumulating at Monterey. The roads are excellent, and nothing seems likely to prolong delay except the want of the thorough knowledge of the enemy's po-

INTERVENTION .- The last two steamers brought rumors of intervention by France and England in the affairs of America. The rumors give the highly improbable story that, as a condition of the recognition of the so called Confederate States. The slaves of the South are to be gradually emancipated. How do the fire-esters admire this programme? But these reports are all humbugs. The story in this morning's dispatches is of a moral intervention, not a forcible one, to bring the war to a close. England and France are neither of them so besotted just yet as to venture into a war with this intervention would bring war immediately. We are of those who believe that we shall have war with one or both of those nations, and perhaps all the other powers of Europe, Russia excepted, before many menths; but it will be for a very different cause than that now put forward.

With the revolution in naval warfare, worked by the Monitor, England and France combined could not fit out, in less than eight deserve well at the hands of the amuseto twelve months, a navy which our present iron-clads would not demolish. The Warrior, or La Gloire either, would stand no chance with the Monitor. The latter would run up under the other's huge sides and, day, at Knapp's Garden, on the Preston secure from her guns, could work her own pleasure. The armor of those vessels being only four and a half inches thick, could not resist the Monitor's shot at the distance of three hundred yards, and at close quarters would be perforated without the least difficulty. To replate the vessels now built, or te build new ones, would require se veral months; and when completed, the vessels (in order to be sea worthy), would be of such bulk, and so deeply sunk, that they could not approach a single harbor on our

By the time those powers, or one of them, would be able to send an iron-clad fleet against us, our own navy would become the most formidable in the world for defense. We publish a communication in another column this morning, suggesting Captain D. T. Towles as a suitable person to fill the office of County Court Clerk, in Green county, at the ensuing August election. Mr. T. is thoroughly quelified, true and loyal, and deserves well of his country. He was in the war with Mexico, and served with Colonel Hobson's regiment at the battte at Shiloh, where his gallantry and daring elicited favorable mention, not only from Colonel Hobson, but from General Boyle in his brigade report. With his fitness, patriotism and general popularity, we doubt not if he desires the place, the voters of Green will confer it upon him.

TESTIMONY of Rev. S. J. Browne, one of the Old Pioneers—"Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good."

CINCINNATI, Dec. 20, 2861. Dr. C. W. ROBACK-Dear Sir: I have been carrying out the above motto, in proving the qualities and benefit of your "Stomach Bitters," for over six months, using them myself in my old age, and in many instances re commending to others, and giving to persons who needed a pure invigorating Tonic Bitter, refreshing and strengthening to the system. I cheerfully indorse their odness, and use them is preference to all others.

Very respectfully.

HENRY DUNCAN, MR. GOTTSCHALK-Respectfully, HENRY DUNCAN, Corner Twentieth and Market street

Ms. Gottschark: Having long been a sufferer from Neuralcia and almost despairing of relief I was induced to try your celebrated compound. It has worked like a charm. I found relief in three days, and am now perfectiv restored. No longer am I kept awake with the shooting patins of Neuralgia, of which I have long suffered. A grand child that complained of a severe headache was cured almost instantly by giving it a half teaspoon full of your mediciae. I recommend all sufferers to try it at once. I know of other cases where it promptly effected a cure.

Cairo, May 14 — Special to Chicago Times A dispatch from Fort Wright, at noon yesterday, says a rebel tug this moment ounded the point to reconnoiter. Everything seems to indicate a renewal of action on both sides. They were expecting an attack momentarily. A deserter came on board the Benton yesterday, who states that the rebel ram, in the engagement on Saturday, was not sunk, as reported, but was terribly shattered. Our gunners undoubtedly fired most of their shots above the water line. They struck where the ram was heavily plated. Experienced naval men are of opinion that had the same number of shots been fired at water line, or below, it would have sent every rebel craft to the bottom. The deserters reported that the rebel fleet lay off the fort, busily engaged in repairing damages, promising faithfully to return in exactly forty-eight hours. From Pittsburg Landing we learn that it was not expected that an attack would be made on the enemy's position for several days. Our seige guns are not yet in position.

Fort Wright, May 10—We, Missourians, concluded to celebrate to day as the anniversary of the Camp Jackson massacre We have shown the enemy we still own the Mississippi, and can run the blockade whenever we choose. We gave them a few bullets this morning to show them our power. After a handsome scrimmage of 30 minutes, we backed down the river, with two killed and eight slightly wounded. Our officers are all safe, and our gunboats uninjured. All, from Commodore down to powder boy, behaved like soldiers.

The Sunny Side, from St. Louis, discharged at this port 175 bales hemp, and the packets arrived and departed with full loads. The John A. Fisher, for Nashville, took out a good trip. The old Queen of the West, razeed and transmed into a war vessel, passed down yesterday. She had a "fender" in tow built on a coal barge. Altogether she presented a "querious" appearance. The C. E. Hillman arrived at Nashville from this ort on Tuesday. The Cumberland was then failing, with four feet four inches on the shoals.

FOR CINCINNATI.-The Jacob Strader is the regular sallboat at noon to-day. In consequence of the pressure of freight, and ning stage of water, the Forest Queen was yesrday put into the Louisville and Cincienati Mail Line, and left in the evening. She will await at Cincinnati the next arrival of the Jacob Strader, and if necessary take her place until the Major Anderson's consort is ready. Then she will go into the evening line again.

Services Alexander Porter.

U. S. STEAMER HARRIST LANE, ? Mississippi river, April 25, 1862. SIE: I have the honor to inform you that Flag Officer Farragut, with the fleet, passed Forte Jackson and St. Philip on the morn-ing of the 24th, and should be in New Orleans by this time, as he can meet with no obstacles such as he has already sed, the way being comparatively open before him.

commenced the bombardment of Fort Jackson on the 18th, and continued dred men were killed and wounded. Ships Fort Jackson on the 18th, and continued it without intermission until the squadron made preparations to move. The squadron on the way to New Orleans. Eleven Confederate vessels sunk and burnt in passing was formed in three lines to pass the forts. Captain Bailey's division, composed of the following vessels, leading to the attack of Fort St. Philip:

Fort St. Philip:
Cayugs. Pensacola, Mississippi, Oneida,
Verona. Katseden, Kinec, and Wissahicken.
Flag Officer Farragut leading the following: Second line—Hartford, Brooklyn, Richmond; and Commander Bell leading the third division, composed of the following veseels: Sciota, Iroquois, Pinola, Winona, Itaeca, and Kennebec.

The steamers belonging to the mortar flotilla were to enfilade the water battery commanding the approaches-s: eamers Harriet Lane, Westfield, Owasco, Clifton and Marine, the Jackson towing the Ports mouth. The vessels were rather late in getting under weigh and into line, and did DIAMOND BACK TERRAPINS, not get fairly started until 8 80 A. M., and the unusual bustle apprised the garrison that something was going on. In an hour and ten minutes after the vessels had weighed anohor they passed the forts, un-der a most terrific fire, which they returned with interest. The mortar fleet rained down shells on Fort Jackson, to try and keep the men from the guns, while the steamers of the morter fleet poured in shrapnel upon the water battery commanding the approach at a short distance, keeping them comparatively quiet. When the last vessel of ours could be seen, among the fire and smoke, to pass the battery, signal was Fresh Potomac Shad, made to the mortars to cease firing, and the flotilla steamers were directed to retire from a contest that would soon become

It was now daylight and the fleet having passed along, the forts began to pay their ttention to our little squadron of steamers; the Portsmouth, which was being towed up, and three of the gunboats which failed to pass through. These latter became entangled in some wrecks and chains placed in the river to obstruct, and which were only partially removed. One of these vessels, the Winona, got through as far as Fort St. Phillip, but having all the guns bearing on her she sensibly retired. The Itasca was fairly riddled and had a shot through her boiler, and the Kennebec escaped un hurt. I am disposed to think that our squadron received but little damage, considering the unequal contest, one hundred to one hundred on shore placed in a most commanding position. For twenty minutes after the ships passed, the forts fired very feebly on the vessels that remained outside, so much so that the Portsmouth was enabled to drop with the current out of gun shot, though the shot fell pretty freely about her at last. I think the fire from the ships must have been very destructive of life. .

The last we saw of our vessels they were standing up the river. Some explosion took place, which made us feel rather uneasy, but which may have been the rebel gunbosts. We could see that our squadron had not destroyed all the enemy's vessels at the fort, for three or four of them were moving about in all directions state of excitement. Before the fleet had got out of sight it was reported to me that the celebrated ram Manassas was coming out to attack us, and sure enough there she was, apparently standing along shore, ready to pounce upon the apparently defenseless mortar vessels.

Two of our steamers and some of the mortar vessels opened fire upon her, but I soon discovered that the Manassas could harm no one again, and I ordered the vessels to save their shot. She was beginning to emit smoke from her ports or holes, and was discovered to be on fire and sinking. Her pipes were all twisted and riddled with shot, and her hull was also well cut up. She had evidently been used up by the squadron as they passed along. I tried to save her, as a curiosity, by getting a hawser around her and securing her to the bank; but just after doing so she faintly exploded, her only gun went off, and emitting flames through her bow port, like some huge animal, she gave a plunge and disap-peared under the water. Next came a steamer on fire, which appeared to be a vessel of war belonging to the rebels, and after her two others, all burning and floating down stream. Fires seemed to be raging all along the "up river," and we supposed that our squadron was burning and destroy-work at Fort Jackson, mounting heavy rifle guns on it, which are of no further use to them in the fort. She mounts sixteen guns, is almost as fermidable a vessel as the Merrimac, perfectly shot-proof, and has four powerful engines in her. I shall, at all events, take such steps as will prevent her from destroying anything, and we may still hold her in check with the steamers, though they are rather fragile for such a service they are rather fragile for such a service myl3d3&wtf W. K. THOMAS, J. J. C. they are rather fragile for such a service. This is one of the cvil effects of leaving an enemy in the rear. I suppose that the ships fired on her as they passed through, but that her mail resisted the shot. She had steam on this morning, and was moving about quite lively. I tried to put some mortar shells through her roof, but without effeet, as she moved on.

The forts are now cut off from all communication with New Orleans, as I presume that flag efficer Farragut has cut the wires. I have sent the Miami around with General Butler to the back of Fort St. Philip, to try to throw in troops at the Quarantine, five miles along the forts, and at the same time open communication that way with flag of ficer Farragut, and supply him with ammunition. I am also going to send part of the mortar fleet to the back of Fort Jackson, to cut off the escape of the garrison by that way and stop supplies. A deserter who can be relied on informs us that they have plenty of provisions for two months, plenty of ammunition and plenty of discomforts. Our shell set the citadel on fire the first afternoon we opened. It burned fiercely for seven hours, but I thought it a fire raft behind the fort, as thought it a fire raft behind the fort, as they continually send them down on us, but lost but one man killed, and one, I fear, mortally wounded. The Winona lost three killed and three wounded, and the Itases, with fourteen shot through her, had but few men hurt. These forts can hold out still for some time, and I would suggest that the Monitor and Mystic, if they can be spared, be sent here without a moment's elay, to settle the question. The mortar fleet have been very much exposed and under a heavy fire for six days, during which time they kept the shells going without intermission. One of thom, the Maria I. Carlton, was sunk by a shot passing down through her magezine.

shot passing down through her magazine and then through her bottom. The fiorilla lost but one man killed and six wounded. The bearing of the officers and men was worthy of the highest praise. They never once flagged, during a period of six days, never had an accident to one of the vessels by firing, and when shell and shot were flying thick above them, showed not the least desire to have the vessels moved to a place of safety. The incidents of the bombardment will be mentioned in my detailed report. I merely write this hurried letter to apprise the Department of the state of af fairs, and shall send it off at once, via Haw

'LOUISVILLE MOWER."

DESCRIPTION OF THE "LOUISVILLE MOWER."

THIS MACHINE IS MADE ALMOST ENTIRELY OF IRON; IT IS EXCEEDINGLY COMPACT AND SIMPLE, AND STRONG BEYOND ANY POSSIBILITY OF breaking. It cuts a swath 4 feet 4 inches wide, and cuts even and smooth in all kinds of grass. It has a lever for rai-ing the finger-bar from the ground for passing obstructions, or for moving from field to field. It is arranged to throw itself out of gear when backing, and is convenient to handle in every respect. It weighs atout expenses the subject. The tongue is loose, and there is, no weight on the horses' neck.

Office of Kentucky Agricultural Works, Market Street, between Preston and Jackson. We commenced the manufacture of Harvesters last season, with the belief that we could furnish Machines better suited to the wants of our Farmers than an already introduced. Our plan is to make separate, not combined, Machines; when made for the special purpose, they can be simple, chrap, and durable, while combine they are necessarily complex and costly, and generally, after one season's use, out of order. We made but few Machines for last harvest, but those, so far as heard from performed well, as the certificates which we offer in our descriptive circular, from those who have had experience with Harvesters, will show. Circulars mailed free upon A. H. PATCH & CO.

Seving Machine! Warranted the Best in the Market. LIAS HOW IR., & S. H. ROPER'S COMBINED PATERTS. Aracht-Line Movements, Original Transverse Shuttle, and Periphery Clamp Feed-Wheel.

The ESE SEWING MACHINES COMBINE THE most recent improvements, are nearly noiseless when in operation, run with the greatest case and rapidity, and are better adapted for general purposes and family use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are exceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; they do every variety of sewing, from the finest moven tissue to the heaviest woolen goods, both tailoring and fine leather work. Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time. time.

The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much complication, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill. The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much complication, requiring so neuch constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill and ingenuity to use them to advantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the Sewing Machines manufactured by Greenman & True are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine ever offered to the public, making the mest beautiful lock-stitch, alike on both sides. Send for an of-hand specimen of sewing upon any material you wish, and you will then see how it is done.
